THREE SUCCESSFUL

NORMAL YOUNG MEN PLEASED WITH POSITIONS SECURED.

IN MANUAL TRAINING

Department Under Mr. Shepard, Glenn Lukens, Frank McKee and Phillip Parcher Reach Success.

Three young men in the 1914 class of the Normal school are especially pleased with the conditions attending their entry into professional ranks. These are the young men who have prepared themselves to teach manual training or industrial arts by special work and study in the department of manual training under Mr. Shepherd's direction, Glenn Lukens, Frank E. McKee and Phillip Parcher.

Glenn Lukens finished the life diploma course at the close of the winter term and one month later was employed at Slayton, Minn., under Superintendent S. D. Brainard, to teach the remainder of the school year at a salary of $100 per month. Mr. Brainard will be suprintendent at Redwood Falls, Minn., the coming year, and he was so well satisfied with the work in Slayton that he offered Mr. Lukens $950 for the nine months as teacher of industrial arts in the Redwood Falls public schools. This was clearly a compliment or a fair recognition of the work done by Lukens, as he had made an application for the place at Redwood Falls at $900.

By Lukens accepting the position at Redwood Falls it became necessary for the Slayton school board to secure another teacher for their manual training department. There were twenty-two applicants for the position, and from the twenty-two Frank E. McKee ("Red") was selected. One member of the board afterward stated that they liked the sample (Lukens) sent out by the Missouri school, so had "ordered some more of that Missouri stuff." In a letter received from Mr. Lukens, McKee is assured that he will find school conditions in Slayton, Minn., very satisfactory, a splendid school building, friendly fellow workers, an enthusiastic, progressive school board and faithful, loyal pupils. The course in manual training will consist of bench work, mechanical drawing and wood turning.

Phillip Parcher breaks the record by having been elected three times in one day, in Washington, Utah and Arkansas. He has accepted the place in Argenta, Ark., where Clarence Jones of the 1913 class taught through the year just closing. Superintendent D. L. Paisley of the Argenta public schools writes to Mr Parcher as follows: "I have decided to name you for teacher of manual training for next year. I am doing this on account of Mr. Shepherd's statement of what you will be worth to us. We shall expect you to do all you can for the school in every way. Your salary will be $90 a month for nine months. Please let me know if this is accepted. I hope we will have a good year.

"I hate to give Mr. Jones up. He is a fine man and we all like him very much, but he thinks that he can get more money than we can pay."

Argenta is a city of 17,000 population. They have a new high school building, built last year, with all departments fully equipped with modern appliances, equipment and tools. Their course in manual training includes bench work, mechanical drawing, wood turning and pattern making. They have a high school faculty of seventeen teachers, including the teachers of art, domestic science and manual training.

"Any one can get a job, but it takes a man who is onto the job to hold one." Will they make good? "We should worry!"

W. J. Breit was the first off. He went to Excelsior Springs, Mo., in the school year 1912-13 and organized their first course in manual training. He started in with eight work benches and other equipment for boys of the high school. His salary was $90 a month for nine months. For a starter in the year 1913-14 the school board saw fit to build an additional building, increase the number of work benches to forty-two and arrange a course in industrial arts for all the grades. They made the two principals of the ward school assistants to Mr. Breit and incidentally boosted the salary of Breit to $111.11 a month for nine months. They knew a good thing when they saw it, and for the school year of 1914-15 they have inflated the salary of the aforesaid Breit to $122.25 a month and agreed to furnish equipment to put in a course in printing and a course in forging.

In the summer term of 1913 one A. E. Burch did some special work in the manual training department of our Normal and later was engaged to teach manual training, with some other subjects, in the Cainsville, Mo., high school. At a late meeting of the school board we are informed that Burch was the only member of the high school faculty re-elected, that that his salary went up from $85 per month to $100 a month for the nine months.

Clarence Jones went to Argenta, Kan. Did he make good? Read the copy of the letter from his superintendent above.

"We should worry."

FIND BURGLAR TOOLS.

Gabe Purcell Finds Tools Belonging to Thomas Casey.

Deputy Sheriff Gabe Purcell of Conception Junction is in Maryville today and has with him some burglar tools he found at the Junction. It is thought that these tools belong to Thomas Casey, the notorious burglar whose name has been frequently connected with the late "Dutch Charley" Heimburg. These tools were found under a building. They consist of a revolver, a set of keys, a bottle of nitroglycerine and some fuses. A boy found the revolver and gave it to Purcell and told him where he found it. Purcell went to this place and found the keys, nitroglycerine and fuses.

Casey was arrested at Conception Junction by Purcell, who is also marshal of that town, one night in a restaurant. He was arrested for robbing a hardware store at Rock Port. At that time Casey had nothing on him except a few loaded shells. It is supposed that he put the tools under the building.

Casey is now being held at Des Moines on a federal charge of stealing whisky from a depot at Sidney, Ia., and his case will come up soon at Des Moines or Council Bluffs.

Casey is the most clever and notorious burglar that has been arrested for some time. He had been making his headquarters for several years at Conception Junction. The authorities at Rock Port failed to convict him of robbery on the lack of evidence. At St. Joseph he was tried on the charge of robbing a saloon, and they failed to convict him on account of the absence of the prosecuting witnesses.

THE HESSIAN FLY

WHAT THE EXPERIMENT STATION SAYS ABOUT CONTROLLING IT.

LITTLE CAN BE DONE NOW

But Badly Infested Fields Which Are Permitted to Ripen Should Be Cut Early and Then Delay Sowing.

L. Haseman of the state agricultural college of Columbia has written this paper as follows in regard to controlling the Hessian fly, which all of our farmers should read:

The Hessian fly is again attracting the attention of wheat growers, especially in the northwestern part of the state, where in some sections a large majority of the fields are badly infested. The pest began its work last fall on the young wheat and passed the winter in the base of the wheat plants in the brown flaxseed stage. With the first warm days of spring the small mosquito-like flies escaped from these winter cases and laid eggs for the first spring brood of maggots. These maggots are now nearly mature at the base of the plants. Badly infested wheat is turning yellow and falling. Between now and wheat cutting time a second swarm of flies will appear to lay eggs for another brood of maggots, which will be full fed and pass the summer in the stubble in the flaxseed stage. From the middle of August to the last of September the third swarm of flies will emerge from these summer cases ready to lay eggs again in early sown wheat.

At this time little can be done to control this pest, unless the field be so badly infested that it is advisable to pasture it or plow it under and plant corn or some other crop. In some cases this may be advisable, but wherever the wheat is still green and has a healthy appearance at least a partial crop will mature, and in such cases it had better be harvested. One must use judgment in deciding what to do with an infested field at this time.

The entomology department of the Missouri college of agriculture will examine samples of infested wheat and offer suggestions as to what had best be done with such wheat. One should collect samples at random and not simply the most badly infested plants, otherwise an examination would lead to wrong conclusions.

Badly infested fields which are permitted to ripen should be cut as early as possible and the wheat removed from the field. Then plow the stubble under at once and work the soil so as to completely cover all stubble. The fly passes the summer almost entirely in the resting stage in the stubble, and if this summer's brood is plowed under or burned, the pest can be stamped out. Then next fall delay the sowing of wheat until the first or possibly the second week in October, so as to escape those flies which manage to pass the summer. All farmers in an infested region should co-operate in this work to secure the best results. There are few pests of field crops which can be so simply and so effectively controlled as the Hessian fly.

"MISTRESS MARY" TONIGHT.

A Big Seat Sale for the First Night Performance—Dress Rehearsal Tuesday Night.

"Mistress Mary" is an assured success, and when the curtain fell at the close of the dress rehearsal at the Empire theater last evening, Miss Martin warmly congratulated the cast and efficient helpers upon the smoothness and excellence of their work. Everybody was in place and all worked with an interest and enthusiasm that carried them far into the "wee small hours" of the night without an impatient protest or objection. The setting of the play is charming, the woodland scenery forming an effective background for the beautiful costumes. Fairies and frogs and will o' the wisps disported themselves gaily in the moonlit forest, and only the owl, who had never rehearsed before, showed the least signs of nervousness or stage fright.

The members of the orchestra, who have so kindly donated their services for this affair evidenced their ability to interpret the music of this dainty opera, while no small feature in the general success of the affair was the courteous co-operation of Mr. Albert Kuchs and Mr. F. G. Shoemaker.

A big seat sale insures an enthusiastic audience tonight, for everybody is going to see "Mistress Mary."

THAT TIRED FEELING

Suggests Grandmother's Remedy.

It's true, the season is here with its sudden changes, and the old idea that we need a blood medicine is not without reason. Too much heavy food has caused a torpid liver, sluggish blood, and a weak, tired out feeling.

Suiphur, cream of tartar and molasses was grandmother's remedy, but that has long ago been displaced by Vinol, a combination of the two most world famed tonics, namely, the medicinal curative elements of the cod's liver, without oil, and iron for the blood.

Vinol builds you up, makes you eat more and digest better, makes your blood rich and pure—puts healthy color in your cheeks.

N. G. Clift of Opelika, Ala., says: "Last spring I was all run down, no strength, no appetite. I took Vinol and was greatly benefited by its use, as I soon felt strong and well as ever."

We guarantee Vinol to satisfy you and refund your money if it does not. Orear-Henry Drug Co., Maryville, Mo. —Advertisement.

The township board was in session Wednesday morning, going over the plans for the work to be done on the bridges and roads. The board is picking out the worst bridges and is intending to start work there at once. The money for the road work, $50,000, is now here.

You will see the Crooked Crook at the big tent tonight.

Daniel Brown of Skidmore was a visitor in this city Wednesday.

Angell's Comedians, in the big tent, surpasses anything seen here at popular prices. The acting cast is as good as most of the one-night stand shows, and the music alone is a big drawing card for the company. Tonight the company will present "The Crook." This bill, it is claimed by the management, is new and will be a big surprise for those that come out tonight. This company is featuring for Friday night a big society play called "The Whirl of Society."

REFINISHING CANDY KITCHEN.

Scene Representing Mary Villemo and Many Others Are Being Painted.

The New York Candy Kitchen are fixing up their store in grand style. The front is being painted in a deep wine color. On the walls are various scenes, one being that of a river with sea gulls hovering near the ships, next is a woods scene with a river in the center and foreground. It is a representation of the 102 river, and below the painting is a bar of the song Mary Villemo, from which the idea of the scene was conceived. At the back of the room is a long scene of cupids, flowers, roses, etc., in colors. Along the other wall a deep forest scene with deers and other animals in the foreground. The border is a hand-painted frieze in green and white. The ceiling is finished in two tones of ivory.

The work is being done by the Arnett Decoratng company. The scenes are being painted by T. M. Swift, an artist of no small ability. The scenes are being painted in two tones of brown, and Mr. Swift says that it is the first time that the work has been introduced west of Chicago.

ALL STOOD IN AWE OF MORGAN

Sway of Money King Over New Haven Told by Mellen.

MILLIONS SPENT AT COMMAND

Road's Former President Gives Story of Financier's Absolute Domination of Its Affairs—Roosevelt Consulted by Rail Head.

Washington, May 20.—The story of absolute domination by the late J. Pierpont Morgan in the affairs of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad system—of the spending of millions in awed and ignorant silence at the command of the all-powerful financial ruler—was told to the interstate commerce commission by Charles S. Mellen, former president of the railroad. It was the most extraordinary chapter yet unfolded in the commission's inquiry into the alleged exploitation of the great New England railroad and disappearance of fortunes from its treasury through acquisition at extravagant prices of subsidiary properties.

There was not time in a single day to crowd details of all the incidents and events dealt with in the witness testimony. He barely touched upon some of the big things, paving the way for exhaustive questioning to come.

Thrills for Listeners.

Members of the commission, counsel and spectators fairly hung upon every word of Mr. Mellen as his story developed dramatictliy under the examination by Chief Counsel Folk. Everybody listened with amazement as he related how he had stood in awe of Mr. Morgan, because of his comprehensive grasp and perfect prescience of financial matters; how he had consulted Theodore Roosevelt, then president of the United States, regarding the purchase of the Boston and Maine railroad; how he had prevented the late E. E. Harriman from acquiring the Boston and Maine by getting it himself for the New Haven; and how he had dealt with the late police inspector, Thomas F. Byrnes of New York, to obtain the Westchester stock held by persons whom he assumed to be connected with Tammany Hall.

As he did when on the stand last week, Mr. Mellen gave his testimony with apparent willingness, answering questions readily and concisely—that is, every question except one. He did try to avoid telling about the time when Mr. Morgan humiliated him by brusquely refusing to give him information concerning the Westchester transaction, to which he thought, as president of the New Haven, he was entitled.

When he finally related the incident his face was drawn into hard lines.

Not Prepared to Advise.

Particular interest was aroused by Mr. Mellen's account of his conference with the then president, Colonel Roosevelt, respecting the acquisition of the Boston and Maine. He explained he was a great admirer of Colonel Roosevelt and frequently conferred with him over important directions.

Colonel Roosevelt said to him at that conference, according to the testimony, that he was not a lawyer and was not prepared to advise what he should do about the proposed purchase, but on Mr. Mellen's statement of the situation, he thought there might be nothing objectionable in it. Mr. Mellen added that the president said he could countenance no illegal action in the matter, and suggested that he confer with Commissioner Lane of the interstate commerce commission. From Mr. Lane, he said, he got no expression of opinion.

WANTS DECREE CHANGED.

Mrs. Ross McMillan Would Be Opera Singer But Cannot Take Child Away.

The following is from Sunday's St. Louis Post-Dispatch in regard to Mr. and Mrs. Ross H. McMillan, who frequently visited in Maryville, Mr. McMillan being a son of Mrs. I. V. McMillan of this city:

To achieve her ambition to become an opera singer, Mrs. Katharine R. McMillan, daughter of Gilbert D. Raine, editor of the Memphis News-Scimitar, is seeking to have Circuit Judge Rassieur modify her divorce decree from Ross H. McMillan, so she may take her daughter, Katharine, 8 years old, with her to New York, where she is studying music.

McMillan, a salesman for a local bond house, and formerly an assistant cashier of the Mercantile National bank, is opposing a modification of the decree. Since Mrs. McMillan obtained a divorce in January, 1913, McMillan has had the privilege of having his daughter with him one day each week, and one month each year. By the removal of Mrs. McMillan to New York he would lose this privilege.

Mrs. McMillan testified she had no relatives here, and no opportunity to study operatic music to advantage. She could find no employment at a remunerative salary in St. Louis after completing her studies, she said. The churches in St. Louis paid their choir singers never more than $100 a month, Mrs. McMillan said, while some of the New York churches paid $1,000 a month.

McMillan said he was paying Mrs. McMillan $50 a month alimony, and contributing $25 a month to the support of the child. He said he did not wish to have the child removed from St. Louis, and desired, if Mrs. McMillan did not wish to live here, to have the custody transferred to him. He said Mrs. McMillan frequently had absented herself from St. Louis and had violated the spirit of the decree.

Mrs. McMillan said that since the divorce her father had been sending her $100 a month, but that it was now necessary for him to go to the aid of a relative who had become financially involved and that she would get nothing more from him.

The relative to whom she referred was Hunter Raine, former president of the Commercial bank of Memphis, which he was accused of wrecking.

Mrs. McMillan obtained the divorce by default. W. Frank Carter, vice-president of the Mercantile Trust Co., testified that he and Festus J. Wade, president of the bank, at the request of McMillan, called on Mrs. McMillan and tried to persuade her not to file suit for divorce. Attorney Moses Sale, in arguing the case before Judge Rossieur, said Mrs. McMillan's ambition to become a singer was responsible for the divorce.

Manton Davis, attorney for Mrs. McMillan, answering this argument, said that Mrs. McMillan, after finding it impossible to live with McMillan on account of his actions, had been forced to revive her ambition to become a singer. Mrs. McMillan is living at 5961 Plymouth avenue.

Upon request of attorneys, the hearing was continued until May 27.

A Tribute.

(By Alta B. Gretton, Detroit, Mich.)

As an old Maryville girl and a close life-long friend of the late Miss Marcia Messenger, I would like to send a tribute of her, throught the Democrat-Forum.

Two days before she went to the hospital she wrote to me a letter, telling me of her condition and what she was to undergo the following Tuesday, closing her letter thus:

"What I am asking is, that my case shall be the means in some way in glorifying God's word, either through my passing on or complete restoration to health—either is all right."

When the news of her passing on came to us we did as Jesus did—wept. Then as if a voice spoke to us came this: "Marcia is not dead, she has merely passed on to a higher plane of existence, there to work out her problem undisturbed by material environments."

And she was not afraid, she said so over and over again, he rone and only thought was that "God's word be glorified." She was a Christian in the very truest sense of the word. She was a daughter that any parent might be proud of, one who not only loved her home, but sacrificed for it. The devoted love she gave her widowed mother cannot be expressed in words, her life and her passing on proves it. She was a sister ever ready to give the helping hand and sound counsel as well as devoted love.

And she was a friend such as few possess, ever faithful and true, and I, her childhood friend, shall, with all her many friends, miss her. Miss her cheery, helpful, loving letters—but I cannot grieve for her. She would not wish it, for she, dear Marcia, is happy and free now, at home with God.

And I am sure if she could speak to us this would be her message:

"I now am satisfied;
I know, whate'er betide,
That Love is by my side,
And God is all."

Be not dismayed whate'er betide,
God will take care of you,
Through every day, o'er all the way,
He will take care of you."

PEACE ENVOYS BEGIN LABORS

A-B-C Mediators Hold First Session at Niagara Falls.

DEMANDS OF UNITED STATES.

Elimination of Dictator and Settlement of Land Question in Mexico Imperative—Huerta Willing to Quit If Carranza Is Barred.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 20.—The first session of the mediators who will determine the fate of Mexico, Minister Naon of Argentina, Ambassador Da Gama of Brazil and Minister Suarez of Chile, and the representatives of the United States and General Huerta, took place here this afternoon.

Whether peace and order shall be restored in that unhappy country by the efforts of its own people or through the intervention of the United States rests upon the success or failure of the mediators representing the A-B-C combination of South America.

President Wilson has laid down two distinct proposals, which he has urged the mediators to advocate. These are:

1. Elimination of General Huerta.
2. A permanent and satisfactory solution of the agrarian question in Mexico.

It is reported that Huerta, through his delegates, will offer to quit the Mexican presidency if Carranza is barred from that office.

ROOSEVELT IS SURE OF HIS RIVER

Colonel Returns Home Thinner and Uses Cane.

New York, May 20.—With harbor craft tooting and flags fluttering, Theodore Roosevelt, who returned home on the steamer Aidan from his visit of many months to South America, was taken aboard a tug, which proceeded to Oyster Bay.

With a few crisp sentences, punctuated by decisive gestures, the colonel reaffirmed the verity of the "river of doubt," curtly denied having expressed himself as to presidential probabilities for 1916, declared he would not run for governor of New York, and made a few deprecatory remarks about his critics.

Friends, who had been alarmed by the reports of Colonel Roosevelt's severe illness, were greatly surprised when they saw him. He was noticeably thinner, and he used a cane as he walked, but his face wore a healthy tan, and he had apparently not lost an ounce of the vigor and energy which have become characteristic of him. After stopping ten days in this country Mr. Roosevelt will go to Spain to the wedding of his son, Kermit.

Mr. Roosevelt anticipated most of the things people were anxious to know, as he submitted to a fusillade of questions before going on board the tug that took him home.

"Not a word about the political situation," he said. "I don't know anything about it, for I haven't seen a newspaper. Any papers which have given my views on the Mexican situation have misquoted me. That applies to what has been said about my presidential intentions," he added.

He was informed that he was reported to have said that he would not run as a candidate on the Republican ticket, and that if he became a candidate it would be on the Progressive ticket.

"Not a word of truth in this," the colonel said. "I have not made a single declaration about the political situation in 1916.

"As to the river, it is extraordinary to have put on the map a river as long as the Rhine, but there is no more doubt of its existence than there is of that of the Rhine."

ARREST WOMAN AS POISONER

Jury Recommends Action Afer Body of Alleged Victim Is Exhumed.

Traverse City, Mich., May 20.—Rose Brownell of Joyfield, Benzie county, was arrested on the recommendation of a coroner's jury, charged with killing James E. Armer, who died on May 2. Witnesses swore the woman had threatened to kill Armer and this fact directed suspicion to her. Sheriff Tucker had the body of Armer disinterred and a post mortem showed traces of poison in the stomach and intestines. Tucker went to Ann Arbor to get an expert analysis.

Rising in Mexico City Expected Soon.

Mexico City, May 20.—The situation in the capital is considered serious and it is feared that a rising will occur within a few days. The resignation of the minister of communications, Jose Maria Lozano, has been accepted, but his succesor has not been named.

Skirmishing at Saltillo.

Mexico City, May 20.—General Blanquet, minister of war, said that no great battle had yet been begun in Saltillo. So far there have only been skirmishes between the vanguards. The government is rushing war material and soldiers into Saltillo.

The death of the above named young gentleman, which occurred on the 9th day of May, 1914, has occasioned regret, widespread and deep, and evoked the sympathy for his bereaved father, mother, wife, brothers and sisters. He was born July 13, 1884, and lived in Nodaway county all his life.

He was just in the prime of early manhood and some time ago contracted a heavy cold, from which, despite all that medical aid could do he never recovered. Possessed of a bright and winning disposition and many other amiable qualities so much to be admired in a young man. He had, during his short sojourn in this vale of tears," won the love and esteem of a host of admiring friends, by whom his early death is now deplored, since his health broke down some months ago. He bore his severe illness with cheerful resignation, and when the end came, he met it with the Christian fortitude of one who had performed his work, and made much of the talents entrusted to him by his Divine Master.

The funeral services were held on Monday, May 11, at New Engleberg abbey church at Conception, conducted by Rt. Rev. Fr. Placid. Burial in St. Columbus cemetery. It was one of the largest funeral services held at Conception in many years.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.

God in His wisdom has recalled
The boon His love has given;
And though the body slumbers here,
The soul is safe in heaven.

THREE SUCCESSFUL

NORMAL YOUNG MEN PLEASED WITH POSITIONS SECURED.

IN MANUAL TRAINING

Department Under Mr. Shepard, Glenn Lukens, Frank McKee and Phillip Parcher Reach Success.

Three young men in the 1914 class of the Normal school are especially pleased with the conditions attending their entry into professional ranks. These are the young men who have prepared themselves to teach manual training or industrial arts by special work and study in the department of manual training under Mr. Shepherd's direction, Glenn Lukens, Frank E. McKee and Phillip Parcher.

Glenn Lukens finished the life diploma course at the close of the winter term and one month later was employed at Slayton, Minn., under Superintendent S. D. Brainard, to teach the remainder of the school year at a salary of $100 per month. Mr. Brainard will be suprintendent at Redwood Falls, Minn., the coming year, and he was so well satisfied with the work in Slayton that he offered Mr. Lukens $950 for the nine months as teacher of industrial arts in the Redwood Falls public schools. This was clearly a compliment or a fair recognition of the work done by Lukens, as he had made an application for the place at Redwood Falls at $900.

By Lukens accepting the position at Redwood Falls it became necessary for the Slayton school board to secure another teacher for their manual training department. There were twenty-two applicants for the position, and from the twenty-two Frank E. McKee ("Red") was selected. One member of the board afterward stated that they liked the sample (Lukens) sent out by the Missouri school, so had "ordered some more of that Missouri stuff." In a letter received from Mr. Lukens, McKee is assured that he will find school conditions in Slayton, Minn., very satisfactory, a splendid school building, friendly fellow workers, an enthusiastic, progressive school board and faithful, loyal pupils. The course in manual training will consist of bench work, mechanical drawing and wood turning.

Phillip Parcher breaks the record by having been elected three times in one day, in Washington, Utah and Arkansas. He has accepted the place in Argenta, Ark., where Clarence Jones of the 1913 class taught through the year just closing. Superintendent D. L. Paisley of the Argenta public schools writes to Mr Parcher as follows: "I have decided to name you for teacher of manual training for next year. I am doing this on account of Mr. Shepherd's statement of what you will be worth to us. We shall expect you to do all you can for the school in every way. Your salary will be $90 a month for nine months. Please let me know if this is accepted. I hope we will have a good year.

"I hate to give Mr. Jones up. He is a fine man and we all like him very much, but he thinks that he can get more money than we can pay."

Argenta is a city of 17,000 population. They have a new high school building, built last year, with all departments fully equipped with modern appliances, equipment and tools. Their course in manual training includes bench work, mechanical drawing, wood turning and pattern making. They have a high school faculty of seventeen teachers, including the teachers of art, domestic science and manual training.

"Any one can get a job, but it takes a man who is onto the job to hold one." Will they make good? "We should worry!"

W. J. Breit was the first off. He went to Excelsior Springs, Mo., in the school year 1912-13 and organized their first course in manual training. He started in with eight work benches and other equipment for boys of the high school. His salary was $90 a month for nine months. For a starter in the year 1913-14 the school board saw fit to build an additional building, increase the number of work benches to forty-two and arrange a course in industrial arts for all the grades. They made the two principals of the ward school assistants to Mr. Breit and incidentally boosted the salary of Breit to $111.11 a month for nine months. They knew a good thing when they saw it, and for the school year of 1914-15 they have inflated the salary of the aforesaid Breit to $122.25 a month and agreed to furnish equipment to put in a course in printing and a course in forging.

In the summer term of 1913 one A. E. Burch did some special work in the manual training department of our Normal and later was engaged to teach manual training, with some other subjects, in the Cainsville, Mo., high school. At a late meeting of the school board we are informed that Burch was the only member of the high school faculty re-elected, that that his salary went up from $85 per month to $100 a month for the nine months.

Clarence Jones went to Argenta, Kan. Did he make good? Read the copy of the letter from his superintendent above.

"We should worry."

FIND BURGLAR TOOLS.

Gabe Purcell Finds Tools Belonging to Thomas Casey.

Deputy Sheriff Gabe Purcell of Conception Junction is in Maryville today and has with him some burglar tools he found at the Junction. It is thought that these tools belong to Thomas Casey, the notorious burglar whose name has been frequently connected with the late "Dutch Charley" Heimburg. These tools were found under a building. They consist of a revolver, a set of keys, a bottle of nitroglycerine and some fuses. A boy found the revolver and gave it to Purcell and told him where he found it. Purcell went to this place and found the keys, nitroglycerine and fuses.

Casey was arrested at Conception Junction by Purcell, who is also marshal of that town, one night in a restaurant. He was arrested for robbing a hardware store at Rock Port. At that time Casey had nothing on him except a few loaded shells. It is supposed that he put the tools under the building.

Casey is now being held at Des Moines on a federal charge of stealing whisky from a depot at Sidney, Ia., and his case will come up soon at Des Moines or Council Bluffs.

Casey is the most clever and notorious burglar that has been arrested for some time. He had been making his headquarters for several years at Conception Junction. The authorities at Rock Port failed to convict him of robbery on the lack of evidence. At St. Joseph he was tried on the charge of robbing a saloon, and they failed to convict him on account of the absence of the prosecuting witnesses.

PROF. LESH RESIGNED.

Head of History Department of Normal to Enter Harvard University the Coming Year.

Prof. J. A. Lesh, who has been the head of the history department of the Normal school, handed in his resignation at the beginning of the spring term to take effect at the close of this term. Prof. and Mrs. Lesh will leave the last of this month for Harvard university, where both of them will enter school, Prof. Lesh intending to complete his studies for a P. H. D. degree from that university during the coming year.

Prof. Lesh has a P. H. D. degree from Taylor university of Upland, Ind., and received a B. D. degree from Drew Theological seminary of Madison, N. J., in 1908. He has an A. M. from the University of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia, receiving it in 1909, and attended Columbia university, New York, one summer.

Prof. Lesh has been the head of the history department of the Normal for the past three years. Before coming here he was head of the education department for two years of the state normal at Indiana, Pa. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Lesh regret to see them leave, but wish them success.

THE HESSIAN FLY

WHAT THE EXPERIMENT STATION SAYS ABOUT CONTROLLING IT.

LITTLE CAN BE DONE NOW

But Badly Infested Fields Which Are Permitted to Ripen Should Be Cut Early and Then Delay Sowing.

L. Haseman of the state agricultural college of Columbia has written this paper as follows in regard to controlling the Hessian fly, which all of our farmers should read:

The Hessian fly is again attracting the attention of wheat growers, especially in the northwestern part of the state, where in some sections a large majority of the fields are badly infested. The pest began its work last fall on the young wheat and passed the winter in the base of the wheat plants in the brown flaxseed stage. With the first warm days of spring the small mosquito-like flies escaped from these winter cases and laid eggs for the first spring brood of maggots. These maggots are now nearly mature at the base of the plants. Badly infested wheat is turning yellow and falling. Between now and wheat cutting time a second swarm of flies will appear to lay eggs for another brood of maggots, which will be full fed and pass the summer in the stubble in the flaxseed stage. From the middle of August to the last of September the third swarm of flies will emerge from these summer cases ready to lay eggs again in early sown wheat.

At this time little can be done to control this pest, unless the field be so badly infested that it is advisable to pasture it or plow it under and plant corn or some other crop. In some cases this may be advisable, but wherever the wheat is still green and has a healthy appearance at least a partial crop will mature, and in such cases it had better be harvested. One must use judgment in deciding what to do with an infested field at this time.

The entomology department of the Missouri college of agriculture will examine samples of infested wheat and offer suggestions as to what had best be done with such wheat. One should collect samples at random and not simply the most badly infested plants, otherwise an examination would lead to wrong conclusions.

Badly infested fields which are permitted to ripen should be cut as early as possible and the wheat removed from the field. Then plow the stubble under at once and work the soil so as to completely cover all stubble. The fly passes the summer almost entirely in the resting stage in the stubble, and if this summer's brood is plowed under or burned, the pest can be stamped out. Then next fall delay the sowing of wheat until the first or possibly the second week in October, so as to escape those flies which manage to pass the summer. All farmers in an infested region should co-operate in this work to secure the best results. There are few pests of field crops which can be so simply and so effectively controlled as the Hessian fly.

"MISTRESS MARY" TONIGHT.

A Big Seat Sale for the First Night Performance—Dress Rehearsal Tuesday Night.

"Mistress Mary" is an assured success, and when the curtain fell at the close of the dress rehearsal at the Empire theater last evening, Miss Martin warmly congratulated the cast and efficient helpers upon the smoothness and excellence of their work. Everybody was in place and all worked with an interest and enthusiasm that carried them far into the "wee small hours" of the night without an impatient protest or objection. The setting of the play is charming, the woodland scenery forming an effective background for the beautiful costumes. Fairies and frogs and will o' the wisps disported themselves gaily in the moonlit forest, and only the owl, who had never rehearsed before, showed the least signs of nervousness or stage fright.

The members of the orchestra, who have so kindly donated their services for this affair evidenced their ability to interpret the music of this dainty opera, while no small feature in the general success of the affair was the courteous co-operation of Mr. Albert Kuchs and Mr. F. G. Shoemaker.

A big seat sale insures an enthusiastic audience tonight, for everybody is going to see "Mistress Mary."

The Dressmakers Club met Tuesday evening with Mrs. D. E. McDonald. The time was very profitably spent in the latest fashion discussion, Miss Nannie McNeal conducting the round table. The club colors, cerise and white, were carried out in the refreshments, black cake and strawberries, Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Louella Landfather serving. The June meeting will be a lawn party at the home of Mrs. C. B. Roberts.

Among those participating in the surprise were Prof. and Mrs. Miller, Rev. and Mrs. L. M. Hale, Senator and Mrs. Anderson Craig, Mr. and Mrs. William Everhart, Mrs. Mary Jones, Mrs. Martin Borrusch, Misses Mollie and Lou Henderson and Miss Ada Albert.

THAT TIRED FEELING

Suggests Grandmother's Remedy.

It's true, the season is here with its sudden changes, and the old idea that we need a blood medicine is not without reason. Too much heavy food has caused a torpid liver, sluggish blood, and a weak, tired out feeling.

Sulphur, cream of tartar and molasses was grandmother's remedy, but that has long ago been displaced by Vinol, a combination of the two most world famed tonics, namely, the medicinal curative elements of the cod's liver, without oil, and iron for the blood.

Vinol builds you up, makes you eat more and digest better, makes your blood rich and pure—puts healthy color in your cheeks.

N. G. Clift of Opelika, Ala., says: "Last spring I was all run down, no strength, no appetite. I took Vinol and was greatly benefited by its use, as I soon felt strong and well as ever."

We guarantee Vinol to satisfy you and refund your money if it does not. Orear-Henry Drug Co., Maryville, Mo. —Advertisement.

Go early to the big tent tonight and get a good seat to see "The Crook."

Prayer Meeting Earlier Than Usual.

The Prayer Meeting service at the First Christian church tonight will be led by Mrs. Harry Todd. The subject is, "The Flower of a Meek Spirit." Mrs. F. P. Robinson will sing a solo. Because of the interest of many parents in their children's appearance in "Mistress Mary" the meeting will begin promptly at 7:30 and will close promptly at 8.15 o'clock.

Township Board Meeting.

The township board was in session Wednesday morning, going over the plans for the work to be done on the bridges and roads. The board is picking out the worst bridges and is intending to start work there at once. The money for the road work, $50,000, is now here.

You will see the Crooked Crook at the big tent tonight.

Daniel Brown of Skidmore was a visitor in this city Wednesday.

Angell's Comedians, in the big tent, surpasses anything seen here at popular prices. The acting cast is as good as most of the one-night stand shows, and the music alone is a big drawing card for the company. Tonight the company will present "The Crook." This bill, it is claimed by the management, is new and will be a big surprise for those that come out tonight. This company is featuring for Friday night a big society play called "The Whirl of Society."

REFINISHING CANDY KITCHEN.

Scene Representing Mary Villemo and Many Others Are Being Painted.

The New York Candy Kitchen are fixing up their store in grand style. The front is being painted in a deep wine color. On the walls are various scenes, one being that of a river with sea gulls hovering near the ships, next is a woods scene with a river in the center and foreground. It is a representation of the 102 river, and below the painting is a bar of the song Mary Villemo, from which the idea of the scene was conceived. At the back of the room is a long scene of cupids, flowers, roses, etc., in colors. Along the other wall a deep forest scene with deers and other animals in the foreground. The border is a hand-painted frieze in green and white. The ceiling is finished in two tones of ivory.

The work is being done by the Arnett Decoratng company. The scenes are being painted by T. M. Swift, an artist of no small ability. The scenes are being painted in two tones of brown, and Mr. Swift says that it is the first time that the work has been introduced west of Chicago.

ALL STOOD IN AWE OF MORGAN

Sway of Money King Over New Haven Told by Mellen.

MILLIONS SPENT AT COMMAND

Road's Former President Gives Story of Financier's Absolute Domination of Its Affairs—Roosevelt Consulted by Rail Head.

Washington, May 20.—The story of absolute domination by the late J. Pierpont Morgan in the affairs of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad system—of the spending of millions in awed and ignorant silence at the command of the all-powerful financial ruler—was told to the interstate commerce commission by Charles S. Mellen, former president of the railroad. It was the most extraordinary chapter yet unfolded in the commission's inquiry into the alleged exploitation of the great New England railroad and disappearance of fortunes from its treasury through acquisition at extravagant prices of subsidiary properties.

There was not time in a single day to crowd details of all the incidents and events dealt with in the witness testimony. He barely touched upon some of the big things, paving the way for exhaustive questioning to come.

Thrills for Listeners.

Members of the commission, counsel and spectators fairly hung upon every word of Mr. Mellen as his story developed dramatictly under the examination by Chief Counsel Folk. Everybody listened with amazement as he related how he had stood in awe of Mr. Morgan, because of his comprehensive grasp and perfect prescience of financial matters; how he had consulted Theodore Roosevelt, then president of the United States, regarding the purchase of the Boston and Maine railroad; how he had prevented the late E. E. Harriman from acquiring the Boston and Maine by getting it himself for the New Haven; and how he had dealt with the late police inspector, Thomas F. Byrnes of New York, to obtain the Westchester stock held by persons whom he assumed to be connected with Tammany Hall.

As he did when on the stand last week, Mr. Mellen gave his testimony with apparent willingness, answering questions readily and concisely—that is, every question except one. He did try to avoid telling about the time when Mr. Morgan humiliated him by brusquely refusing to give him information concerning the Westchester transaction, to which he thought, as president of the New Haven, he was entitled.

When he finally related the incident his face was drawn into hard lines.

Not Prepared to Advise.

Particular interest was aroused by Mr. Mellen's account of his conference with the then president, Colonel Roosevelt, respecting the acquisition of the Boston and Maine. He explained he was a great admirer of Colonel Roosevelt and frequently conferred with him over important directions.

Colonel Roosevelt said to him at that conference, according to the testimony, that he was not a lawyer and was not prepared to advise what he should do about the proposed purchase, but on Mr. Mellen's statement of the situation, he thought there might be nothing objectionable in it. Mr. Mellen added that the president said he could countenance no illegal action in the matter, and suggested that he confer with Commissioner Lane of the interstate commerce commission. From Mr. Lane, he said, he got no expression of opinion.

WANTS DECREE CHANGED.

Mrs. Ross McMillan Would Be Opera Singer But Cannot Take Child Away.

The following is from Sunday's St. Louis Post-Dispatch in regard to Mr. and Mrs. Ross H. McMillan, who frequently visited in Maryville, Mr. McMillan being a son of Mrs. I. V. McMillan of this city:

To achieve her ambition to become an opera singer, Mrs. Katharine R. McMillan, daughter of Gilbert D. Raine, editor of the Memphis News-Scimitar, is seeking to have Circuit Judge Rassieur modify her divorce decree from Ross H. McMillan, so she may take her daughter, Katharine, 8 years old, with her to New York, where she is studying music.

McMillan, a salesman for a local bond house, and formerly an assistant cashier of the Mercantile National bank, is opposing a modification of the decree. Since Mrs. McMillan obtained a divorce in January, 1913, McMillan has had the privilege of having his daughter with him one day each week, and one month each year. By the removal of Mrs. McMillan to New York he would lose this privilege.

Mrs. McMillan testified she had no relatives here, and no opportunity to study operatic music to advantage. She could find no employment at a remunerative salary in St. Louis after completing her studies, she said. The churches in St. Louis paid their choir singers never more than $100 a month, Mrs. McMillan said, while some of the New York churches paid $1,000 a month.

McMillan said he was paying Mrs. McMillan $50 a month alimony, and contributing $25 a month to the support of the child. He said he did not wish to have the child removed from St. Louis, and desired, if Mrs. McMillan did not wish to live here, to have the custody transferred to him. He said Mrs. McMillan frequently had absented herself from St. Louis and had violated the spirit of the decree.

Mrs. McMillan said that since the divorce her father had been sending her $100 a month, but that it was now necessary for him to go to the aid of a relative who had become financially involved and that she would get nothing more from him.

The relative to whom she referred was Hunter Raine, former president of the Commercial bank of Memphis, which he was accused of wrecking.

Mrs. McMillan obtained the divorce by default. W. Frank Carter, vice-president of the Mercantile Trust Co., testified that he and Festus J. Wade, president of the bank, at the request of McMillan, called on Mrs. McMillan and tried to persuade her not to file suit for divorce. Attorney Moses Sale, in arguing the case before Judge Rossieur, said Mrs. McMillan's ambition to become a singer was responsible for the divorce.

Manton Davis, attorney for Mrs. McMillan, answering this argument, said that Mrs. McMillan, after finding it impossible to live with McMillan on account of his actions, had been forced to revive her ambition to become a singer. Mrs. McMillan is living at 5961 Plymouth avenue.

Upon request of attorneys, the hearing was continued until May 27.

A Tribute.

(By Alta B. Gretton, Detroit, Mich.)

As an old Maryville girl and a close life-long friend of the late Miss Marcia Messenger, I would like to send a tribute of her, throught the Democrat-Forum.

Two days before she went to the hospital she wrote to me a letter, telling me of her condition and what she was to undergo the following Tuesday, closing her letter thus:

"What I am asking is, that my case shall be the means in some way in glorifying God's word, either through my passing on or complete restoration to health—either is all right."

When the news of her passing on came to us we did as Jesus did—wept. Then as if a voice spoke to us came this: "Marcia is not dead, she has merely passed on to a higher plane of existence, there to work out her problem undisturbed by material environments."

And she was not afraid, she said so over and over again, he rone and only thought was that "God's word be glorified." She was a Christian in the very truest sense of the word. She was a daughter that any parent might be proud of, one who not only loved her home, but sacrificed for it. The devoted love she gave her widowed mother cannot be expressed in words, her life and her passing on proves it. She was a sister ever ready to give the helping hand and sound counsel as well as devoted love.

And she was a friend such as few possess, ever faithful and true, and I, her childhood friend, shall, with all her many friends, miss her. Miss her cheery, helpful, loving letters—but I cannot grieve for her. She would not wish it, for she, dear Marcia, is happy and free now, at home with God.

And I am sure if she could speak to us this would be her message:

"I now am satisfied;
I know, whate'er betide,
That Love is by my side,
And God is all."

Be not dismayed whate'er betide,
God will take care of you,
Through every day, o'er all the way,
He will take care of you."

PEACE ENVOYS BEGIN LABORS

A-B-C Mediators Hold First Session at Niagara Falls.

DEMANDS OF UNITED STATES.

Elimination of Dictator and Settlement of Land Question in Mexico Imperative—Huerta Willing to Quit If Carranza Is Barred.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 20.—The first session of the mediators who will determine the fate of Mexico, Minister Naon of Argentina, Ambassador Da Gama of Brazil and Minister Suarez of Chile, and the representatives of the United States and General Huerta, took place here this afternoon.

Whether peace and order shall be restored in that unhappy country by the efforts of its own people or through the intervention of the United States rests upon the success or failure of the mediators representing the A-B-C combination of South America.

President Wilson has laid down two distinct proposals, which he has urged the mediators to advocate. These are:

1. Elimination of General Huerta.
2. A permanent and satisfactory solution of the agrarian question in Mexico.

It is reported that Huerta, through his delegates, will offer to quit the Mexican presidency if Carranza is barred from that office.

ROOSEVELT IS SURE OF HIS RIVER

Colonel Returns Home Thinner and Uses Cane.

New York, May 20.—With harbor craft tooting and flags fluttering, Theodore Roosevelt, who returned home on the steamer Aidan from his visit of many months to South America, was taken aboard a tug, which proceeded to Oyster Bay.

With a few crisp sentences, punctuated by decisive gestures, the colonel reaffirmed the verity of the "river of doubt," curtly denied having expressed himself as to presidential probabilities for 1916, declared he would not run for governor of New York, and made a few deprecatory remarks about his critics.

Friends, who had been alarmed by the reports of Colonel Roosevelt's severe illness, were greatly surprised when they saw him. He was noticeably thinner, and he used a cane as he walked, but his face wore a healthy tan, and he had apparently not lost an ounce of the vigor and energy which have become characteristic of him. After stopping ten days in this country Mr. Roosevelt will go to Spain to the wedding of his son, Kermit.

Mr. Roosevelt anticipated most of the things people were anxious to know, as he submitted to a fusillade of questions before going on board the tug that took him home.

"Not a word about the political situation," he said. "I don't know anything about it, for I haven't seen a newspaper. Any papers which have given my views on the Mexican situation have misquoted me. That applies to what has been said about my presidential intentions," he added.

He was informed that he was reported to have said that he would not run as a candidate on the Republican ticket, and that if he became a candidate it would be on the Progressive ticket.

"Not a word of truth in this," the colonel said. "I have not made a single declaration about the political situation in 1916.

"As to the river, it is extraordinary to have put on the map a river as long as the Rhine, but there is no more doubt of its existence than there is of that of the Rhine."

ARREST WOMAN AS POISONER

Jury Recommends Action Afer Body of Alleged Victim Is Exhumed.

Traverse City, Mich., May 20.—Rose Brownell of Joyfield, Benzie county, was arrested on the recommendation of a coroner's jury, charged with killing James E. Armer, who died on May 2. Witnesses swore the woman had threatened to kill Armer and this fact directed suspicion to her. Sheriff Tucker had the body of Armer disinterred and a post mortem showed traces of poison in the stomach and intestines. Tucker went to Ann Arbor to get an expert analysis.

Rising in Mexico City Expected Soon.

Mexico City, May 20.—The situation in the capital is considered serious and it is feared that a rising will occur within a few days. The resignation of the minister of communications, Jose Maria Lozano, has been accepted, but his succesor has not been named.

Skirmishing at Saltillo.

The death of the above named young gentleman, which occurred on the 9th day of May, 1914, has occasioned regret, widespread and deep, and evoked the sympathy for his bereaved father, mother, wife, brothers and sisters. He was born July 13, 1884, and lived in Nodaway county all his life.

He was just in the prime of early manhood and some time ago contracted a heavy cold, from which, despite all that medical aid could do he never recovered. Possessed of a bright and winning disposition and many other amiable qualities so much to be admired in a young man. He had, during his short sojourn in this vale of tears," won the love and esteem of a host of admiring friends, by whom his early death is now deplored, since his health broke down some months ago. He bore his severe illness with cheerful resignation, and when the end came, he met it with the Christian fortitude of one who had performed his work, and made much of the talents entrusted to him by his Divine Master.

The funeral services were held on Monday, May 11, at New Engleberg abbey church at Conception, conducted by Rt. Rev. Fr. Placid. Burial in St. Columbus cemetery. It was one of the largest funeral services held at Conception in many years.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.

God in His wisdom has recalled
The boon His love has given;
And though the body slumbers here,
The soul is safe in heaven.
